

<http://irishteachingandlearningfestival.wordpress.com/2010/09/20/interactive-white-boards-a-literature-review-national-and-international/>

Venue: Citywest Convention Centre

Dr. David O Grady

Interactive White Boards: A Literature Review, National and International.

16 October 2010

Notes taken by David Kearney

Referenced work of John West-Burnham regarding Shallow, Deep and Profound Learning

Read more at http://johnwest-burnham.co.uk/index.php?option=com_content&view=article&id=13%3Aunderstanding-deep-learning&catid=5%3Aarticles accessed 2-1-2013

Referred to Smith et al., Newcastle 2005, Boon or Bandwagon

...it mentions the recitation script (Tharpe & Gallimore 1988) ...placing the teacher in the role of didactic expert

Read more at http://edtech2.boisestate.edu/spechtp/551/IWB_Boon_Bandwagon.pdf accessed 2-1-2013.

Kelley, 2007: IWB as “comforting technology”

I found the reference to...

Kelley, P., Underwood, G., Potter, F., Hunter, J. & Beveridge, S. (2007). Viewpoints: Interactive whiteboards: Phenomenon or fad? Learning, Media and Technology, 32(3), 333-347.

...in Northcote, 2010, Interactive whiteboards: Interactive or just whiteboards? at <http://connectinghseg.wikispaces.com/file/view/Interactive+or+just+whiteboards.pdf> accessed 2-1-2013

David mentioned that ‘mature teachers love the board’.

New skills developed with the new technologies, leading to more inclusive and cooperative learning

Hannah Slay, Ingrid Sieborger, Cheryl Hodgkinson-Williams, 2007

Interactive whiteboards: Real beauty or just “lipstick”?

...talks about ...disruptive effects that technology can have when not fully understood or used optimally. We caution against imposing technologies on teachers and suggest instead that teachers be allowed to request the technologies

Read more at

<http://www.pgce.soton.ac.uk/ict/NewPGCE/pdfs%20IWBs/IWBs%20real%20beauty%20or%20just%20lipstick.pdf> accessed 2-1-2013

The above article also references Bennet et al:

Bennett, S. & Lockyer, L. (2008). A study of teachers’ integration of interactive whiteboards into four Australian primary school classrooms. Learning, Media and Technology, 33(4), 289-300.

...I think David referred to the IWB in the context of whole-class teaching

Irish Studies on IWB include

- Rory McGann, 2006 ...I reproduce some of Rory's content at <http://www.cbiproject.net/ennis.htm>
- Triona Hannon, 2008
- I found this at http://www.teachingcouncil.ie/fileupload/Research/Bursary%20Summaries/Triona_Hannon_72856908_WebsiteResearchSummary_jul2010.pdf accessed 2-1-2013
- Seán O'Neill, 2008 ...my apologies in that I cannot locate this online

International: Mal Lee, 2010, IWB Revolution

Mal Lee gave a Keynote "Considering the IWB Developments in their Holistic Context - in Schools and Educational Authorities, Historically and Globally" at RITWIT, Cambridge, 2009
<http://www.educ.cam.ac.uk/events/conferences/ritwit/keynotespeakers.html>